Amongst other things also the consequences are, as pointed out by the Registrar-General three years ago, that the proper sanitate n of the colony is undoubtedly impracticable if the system of squatting, as at present practised, is any longer continued, on account of the miserable shanties in which these people live, owing Paul's College to night (Tuesday), commencing to their having no fixity of tenure. M. McCallum describes these shanties i detail and he manner in which the occup exercised by the Government over squal ting prevents the further seprend of the nuisance arising from dwellings such as those described, but it will of course take time to bring the existing villages into conformity with sanitary requirements. We are not aware whether the Government has N. The proper formation of the streets, the improvement p.m .:of the drainage, and the provision of an adequate water supply are matters for which the Government itself is directly responsible. and to which prompt attention should be given. As to the personal insanitary habits of the people, the only remedy, as Mr. McCALLUM says, is to teach sanitary principles. He refers to the progress made in this direction in India, and recommends the printing in Chinese of a small, sanitary phimer, in the simplest possible language, dealing with the most elementary sanitary principles, to be distributed broadcast and to be explained in the clementary schools.

Very little is really known regarding the health of the Chinese either in the city or villages, or of the diseases from which they suffer. Mr. McCallum accordingly recommends the. appointment of a staff of Chinese medical evitable. practitioners more or less trained in European medicine. At the time the report was

In a short time the Medical College will begin to turn out its graduates, and from this source and from the Canton Hospital a sufficiently large staff of fairly well trained men might be secured. Treesland Charge Cordial Mr. McCallum speaks of "the urgent necessity of the Government providing a meslical service for the native community not only for the Kowloon Peninsula but for the whole Colony." He does not, however, make any suggestion as to the terms on which? medical assistance should be made available for the whole community is of course out of the question. The most advantageous course to follow would probably be to appoint officers of health for each of the districts of Victoria and the larger villages at a small salary with the right of private practice. As officers of health they would have to report at short intervals, say monthly, to the Colonial Surgeon or the Sanitary Board, on the health of their district, while as private practitioners their services would be available to all who chose to pay for them; A double end would thus be served, the Government obtaining much needed in formation and at the same time assisting in ballen lighthouse, about 300 miles from where your came too late for its fruits to appear in last-THE report of Mr. McCallum on the con- the establishment of the practice of European dition of the villages at Kowloon will well medicine among the Chinese. The CHAIRMAN-Well, we retain half the interest in the part we are selling, and we are putting it into the hands of experienced engineers from London and they are much more likely to manage it successfully from that quarter than any directors can do from this. Up to a year or eighteen months ago our affairs were not so well looked after as we expected by the men who had been there for years, although our experience is much better now. As to the books being so far behind, you certainly have some reason to complain. When Mr. Hardy want. have there, the first thing the book-keeper who was metal- there did was to leave, and he left the books in disorder, so that it took Mr. Hardy some time to get in the them into order. He has worked them up in such a way, however, that in a fortnight hence of we shall have Saptember accounts in hand here. We have already got August. I may also add Mr. Fraser Smith-It is a vectory dos- that this meeting would have been nearly month sooner but that we thought it desirable to postpone it with a view to being able to say tryon that the company in London had been formed; the 31st was the extreme limit allowed for its formation. We were disappointed in that, but only we believe for a few weeks and nothing of more. With regard to these encouraging assays, you will observe that they refer chiefly to Tang it? Are the prospects good?

The CHAIRMAN—Here an there we have Kong, that is, the sold part of our property, and hence the terms used are somewhat favourable, Mr. BRANDY-May we saybat the prospects because we have had very good assays indeed from these quarters, and as half sbareholders in the concern we may be glad enough of that. Mr. BRANDT-I think, sir, a clur has been worked, and I think that is likely to create a totally wrong impression among shareholders. With such a small capital as we have it was impossible to work so large correct so far as they go. They are so old that It would take a million pounds to work the whole of it ourselves and I think therefore the directors are perfectly justified in going on in The CHAIRMAN—We have reason to believe sider whether there is any prospect of working the way they are at present, disposing of portions of the property and at the same time retaining an interest in the portions sold.

Mr. FRASER SMITH-I did not cast any slur, sir, on the directors of this company and I do not choose to make any raply to the observations of the shareholder who has just sat down. The CHAIRMAN-We understand, but w like to have the opinions of all: The motion for the adoption of the report and accounts was then put and carried. Mr. FRASER SMITH-There has been a great deal of talk with regard to the manner in which information received by the directors has been circulated. It appears that the custom has been to hang a board up ontside the office. I think that altogether insufficient. I think if you would go to a small expense and send an express round to each shareholder it would be better. (Hear hear.) It could be done for about a dollar. Besides it would do away with a great deal of masty talk that is indulged in by a certain low class of presons who congregate in the Queen'sroad. (Laughter.). I would respectfully suggest.

The CHAIRMAN—We shall be perfectly happy Mr. FRASER SMITH-It could be done very The CHAIRMAN-Did you say for a dollar.
